THE EFFECTIVE
FUNCTIONAL
ASPECTIVE BUSINESS

Usefulness is the most important feature of an effective advertising gift.

77%

of consumers declared that they would keep a promotional article because of its functional qualities

In numerous studies, a mug stands on the podium of the most desired advertising gifts.

Because of its usefulness and susceptibility to visual modifications, the mug has become one of the favourite and most frequently selected products by marketers worldwide.

of decision-makers opted for the functional aspect of the mug appreciated its economic value.

79%

Extremely durable product customisation technologies guarantee the continuity of the marketing message during the use of an advertising product.

70%

of respondents declare that they will make a transaction with the advertiser after receiving a mug (or glass).

87%

of the people who received a gift could quickly and properly identify the brand of the gift. This is also reflected in purchasing decisions.

A mug is an inclusive and universal advertising gift. It will prove its value even with the most precise and specific target groups.

One important element of the marketing industry is the presence of a mug in social interaction. It is frequently a participant of meetings, talks and visits. The message placed on the mug not only reaches its direct user, but also attracts the attention of bystanders.

A personal advertising gift creates an emotional bond between the user and the brand. Using the mug is connected to the pleasure of drinking your favourite coffee or tea, which builds positive associations with the brand.

With the increase in ecological awareness in the society, the mug - especially the 2Go version - has become a symbol of the Zero Waste and Ecofriendly lifestyles. Reusability, durability and ease of maintaining hygiene - these are the features owing to which the porcelain mug replaces its disposable competitors.
